

Job title: Head of Energy Statistics

Company:

Enerdata is an independent Research & Consulting firm specializing in the global energy industry and markets (oil, gas, coal, power, renewables and carbon markets) incorporated in 1991. Leveraging extensive quantitative databases, proven methodologies and advanced forecasting models, our experts have more than 25 years' experience in economic, policy and technology issues shaping the energy industry. Enerdata provides data, research, solutions, consulting and training to hundreds of clients worldwide: major Oil & Gas companies, electric utilities, equipment companies, consultancies, banks and public organizations.

The assignment:

In the context of its strong development, Enerdata recruits its Head of Energy Statistics who will manage the Data team and lead Enerdata expertise in energy & climate statistics and analysis. The Head of Energy Statistics is part of Enerdata's management team and plays a key role in communication and business development.

Main responsibilities:

- Leadership and management of the Data team
- Strategy, quality and developments related to data collection, processing, estimates and analysis
- Development of existing or new products/solutions in our Information Services offering
- Ensure timely and professional Information Services customer service by the Data Team, as well as quality control
- Manage clients' projects related to energy statistics and Energy Information System (EIS) / Observatories
- Participate to key publications and communication events

Professional background:

- Proven experience in energy/climate economics and accounting
- Excellent knowledge of statistics/applied mathematics
- Excellent understanding of current international energy markets
- Experience of quantitative analysis and data processing
- Understanding of new technologies for data management
- Experience in management
- Outstanding written and oral communication skills
- Strong analytical, research and problem-solving skills

Languages:

- Fluency in English is required
- Mastering a second European language (especially French)

Contract type: Full time position

Starting date: TbD

Location: Grenoble, France

Education: Advanced university degree in statistics/engineering/economics/

Level of experience: 10+ years

To apply, please send your CV and cover letter at: careers@enerdata.net